Ramparts Magazine Files Chapter 11 Proceeding 4/4

By a Wall Street Journal Staff Reporter SAN FRANCISCO — Financially troubled Ramparts Magazine Inc., publishers of the monthly muckraking Ramparts Magazine, sought relief under the Bankruptcy Act in Federal district court here.

The concern filed a Chapter 11 proceeding, saying it can't pay its debts as they mature, but seeking approval of an arrangement for both paying its debts and continuing publication. The company listed debts of $3,078,670 and assets of $1,258,858 in papers filed with the court.

By filing for the proceeding, the concern won't be liable to any foreclosure proceeding.

Raymond Aniter, an attorney representing the publishing company, said its problems were caused by excessive publishing costs and said the company intended to cut down on its overhead, especially reducing its use of color printing.

Comment wasn't immediately available from any officials of the six-year-old magazine. Its San Francisco telephone number was answered by a recording that said the number was out of service and added that a new number wasn't available.

"RAMPARTS" MAGAZINE

"Ramparts" in a letter to subscribers dated May 1, 1968, announced that beginning June 1, 1968, it would be published biweekly at a yearly subscription price of $15. In this letter "Ramparts" described itself as follows: "...the first national publication to consistently reveal the ribbon of lies supporting America's involvement in Vietnam; we stripped the curtain from America's 'invisible government' by exposing CIA's unlicensed intrusion into our domestic lives; we dared to write about the applications of the Catholic Church's political power; we warned, years before the Kerner report, that white racism was the base of America's racial problems; we blasted away at the corroded institutions of Cold War liberalism.

"'Ramparts' is now the largest left-of-center commercial magazine in the history of the United States..."

"RAMPARTS" MAGAZINE, INCORPORATED

The Clerk of the District Court for the Northern District of California received a petition on March 4, 1969, from "Ramparts" Magazine under the provision of Chapter XI of the National Bankruptcy Act. "Ramparts" petitioned for a stay of all contracts and suits to allow it to arrange its finances and continue publication.

"Ramparts" in its petition listed its assets and liabilities as follows:

Wage Claims $ 27,562.65

Federal Wage Withholding
Taxes 51,635.58

California Employment Tax 1,481.03

Creditors Holding Securities 4,246,747.83

"Ramparts" subsequently filed with the Clerk of the Court a Cash Flow Projection reflecting anticipated income and expenses for the period through June, 1969. A deficit of $115,000 for operation through June, 1969, was anticipated.

SF 157-459 EJO/cab DETAILS: PREDICATION This investigation was initiated to determine if "Ramparts" Magazine, Inc. is in violation of the Foreign Agents Registration Act of 1938 in that it has not registered with the Attorney General and may currently be engaged in acts of distribution of propaganda, acting as a political agent, collecting information, forwarding information, etcetera, while acting as the agent of a foreign principal. I. ORIGIN, SCOPE AND GENERAL ACTIVITIES A. History and Corporate Structure Proposed Offering of Public Stock Source advised that "Ramparts" Magazine had contacted several accounting firms in the San Francisco area for the purpose of conducting an audit of their records covering the last three years. "Ramparts" desired that a certified statement of accounts be issued preparatory to making possible offering of "Ramparts" stock. Source stated that the accounting firms were reluctant to accept this audit because of the poor condition of "Ramparts" financial records and the possibility that "Ramparts" might go into bankruptcy. It was felt that if "Ramparts" went into bankruptcy after the issuance of stock to the public, that the purchasers might bring suit against the auditing firm alleging misrepresentation of financial condition and falsely inducing purchases. SF T-1 10/1/68 Resignation of Warren Hinckle, President and Editorial Director described as a new left radical weekly publication, contained an article captioned, "Ramparts Hits the Barricades" by ART

GOLDBERG, datelined San Francisco. //

The February 8, 1969, issue of the "Guardian," self-

ART GOLDBERG is listed on the masthead in the April, 1969, issue of "Ramparts" as an Assistant Editor.

A characterization of the "Guardian" is contained in the Appendix.

This article read in its entirety as follows:

"Ramparts magazine is still alive. Its key editorial people, including editor-in-chief Robert Scheer, art director Dugald Stermer, and editors David Horowitz, Peter Collier and David Kolodney are still with the magazine as is the large majority of its staff.

"This directly contradicts reports in the New York Times and San Francisco Chronicle, but it is true. Ramparts, as usual, is in serious financial difficulty, but in many ways its future prospects seem good.

"The current confusion began when Warren Hinckle resigned as president and editorial director of Ramparts Jan. 29. Before he officially resigned, Hinckle informed the New York Times of the action he was taking, then flew back to San Francisco to inform the directors of Ramparts. Hinckle also told the Times that the staff of Ramparts was going to start a new magazine with him. He implied that Ramparts was dead.

"The directors of Ramparts did not agree with Hinckle's assessment that it would be impossible to keep the magazine alive, and voted to continue to publish Ramparts. The staff, likewise, although it was several paychecks behind, showed no inclination to jump into a new magazine.

"In the past few months, there had been dissatisfaction among the staff about the way Ramparts was being run. This was true of outside contributors as well as those working in the San Francisco office. As a result, the staff formed itself into a union to push for, among other things, a more regularized pay schedule, greater voice in editorial policy, and an improvement in working conditions (i.e., a less chaotic environment with fewer arbitrary decisions).

"Undemocratic

"One reason for the decline in staff morale was the undemocratic way decisions were made. As both president and editorial director, Hinckle controlled the finances, and had final say on all editorial matters. It was not unusual to find issues torn apart at the last minute or stories drastically changed.

"The basic idea behind Ramparts was to bring radical and left ideas to a public not normally attracted to radical journals. To accomplish this, a certain amount of promotion and sensationalism was thought necessary. Ramparts articles on Vietnam, and the CIA involvement there, played a role in building the antiwar movement.

"After a time, however, the promotional approach began to have diminishing results. Style was sometimes valued over editorial content. People were sent off around the country on stories that were never used. Missed deadlines resulted in lost money that no amount of publicity could make up. Money was often spent unwisely (it cost the magazine $50,000 to send 36 people to Chicago for the Democratic convention and to publish five issues of a wallposter there). It became more difficult to raise money to meet Ramparts' yearly deficit.

"Some actual and potential financial helpers of Ramparts withdrew their funds because of the magazine's stand on Israel (generally pro-Arab) and its positive attitude toward the Black Panther party. Other potential investors wanted the magazine to support Sen. Eugene McCarthy, but it refused.

"As the money pressures built up, Ramparts tried to become a biweekly. This worked for a time, but it slowly began to have an adverse effect on the editorial content.

"Early in January, Hinckle left for New York in an effort to raise the money to keep Ramparts alive. He told the directors that he was unable to raise the necessary amount, but had been able to raise enough to start a new magazine, with the same staff, a different name (Barricades), the same Ramparts format, but without Ramparts' past debts.

"That was rejected by the board. It was felt that Ramparts had a large and loyal group of readers who had supported the magazine in the past, and that it had a national reputation for provocative journalism that was worth preserving.

"The board felt that if Ramparts could cut down drastically on production costs (less color and slick paper), lower its administrative costs, go back to a monthly schedule and eliminate some of the expensive practices that Hinckle favored, it had a good chance for survival.

"It was decided that Ramparts would enter voluntary bankruptcy to give it time to reorganize and raise new capital. The bankruptcy proceedings would dissolve much of the past debts while permitting the magazine to publish.

"Editorial decisions are expected to be made by an editorial board drawn from the editorial staff. 'I hope we can run this magazine more like a collective,' Scheer said.

Factional Struggle for Control of "Ramparts"

The Thursday, March 27, 1969, issue of the "San Francisco Bay Guardian," a weekly newspaper of general circulation distributed principally in the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Area, contained an article captioned, "Ramparts-Revolution With Limousine Services," by IVAN CHARPE. This article was based upon an interview of FREDERICK C. MITCHELL 29 year old publisher of "Ramparts." and a review of "Ramparts" Petition in Bankruptcy. This article read in part as follows:

"This clash of styles vividly splashed forth last August at the Chicago Democratic Convention: Scheer (Robert Scheer, Editor in Chief) in the streets with the demonstrators, Hinckle (Warren Hinckle, III, President and Editorial Director) high above in the Ambassador hotel before a television set. It promted an irrevocable split between Scheer and Hinckle (who, with art director Dugald Stermer, were Ramparts' ruling triumvirate) and touched off events leading to Hinckle's resignation and final tour de force.

"Mitchell (Frederick C. Mitchell, Publisher) calls it 'a horror story.' Hinckle's idea was to produce a daily wall poster for the National Mobilization Committee. Only a handful of editorials were ever produced and demonstrators promptly accused Ramparts of blatant self-promotion. Hinckle's entourage entertained with gusto in roisterous all-night parties in an Ambassador Hotel suite. Total Chicago bill: almost $15,000.

"Mitchell said disgustedly: 'Cronies from the Times were hanging around carousing and boozing it up while people were having their heads cracked down on the streets, people more or less our allies, the people we were leading on, writing about and writing for.'

"Says Scheer: 'It was like having two magazines. I went out on Michigan Ave. and got teargassed and clubbed and I never saw Warren for three days. His style there was offensive to me.'

"Hinckle retorted with characteristic barroom blunt: 'F the New Left,' adding incredulously, 'I was supposed to go out in the streets and watch that shit?'

"In house dissent had long been as much a Ramparts constant as had the magazine's dissenting editorial stance. When Scheer raked the Vietnam coals, Hinckle complained the magazine was getting too political. When Hinckle then wrote about 'women power,' Mitchell and Scheer thought he was silly and shrill. 'I was overseas at the time,' Scheer told me. 'Had I been here, it wouldn't have run.' For Hinckle, many staffers lamented, a story wasn't a story until it could command, a full page New York Times ad.

"'Ramparts was one big, crazy deal,' said Hinckle in our interview. 'We were always broke and staving off disaster. It was one mad, zany thing after another. The staff wanted serious political analysis, but I didn't give a damn. It would still be something like the Berkeley Barb if it had been left to them.'

"Scheer said less forcefully: 'There was always tension in Ramparts between Warren's cynicism and the people who were serious in their political concern. Warren is very much the big city news reporter, pragmatic and cynical, believing that basically the world is corrupt and nothing can change that.'

"Mitchell leaned to Scheer's views. 'I think we'd like the magazine to be exciting and vital --whatever that means--but rather more analytical and less concerned with tub thumping.'

Whatever Ramparts is now or will become, Ed Keating doesn't like it. Keating, 42, is bitter and angry, not unreasonably so since he and his wife poured all the money they had, about $800,000, into it. Hinckle forces then ousted him even though he held some 47 per cent of the stock.

"'Since I left,' he said, 'all it's done is lose people, lose writers, lose circulation and lose the important thing I had going for that magazine. And that is integrity. I'm ashamed of the magazine and I want nothing to do with it.'

"The Atherton attorney, emphasizing everything he said could be quoted and that he would enjoy nothing better than a good libel suit, bored in: 'I hope Hinckle gets what he deserves and that Scheer gets exposed.'

"Hinckle, he said, was an 'insecure opportunist.' Scheer, who Hinckle had hired 'over my violent protests,' is an 'exploiter' and a 'predator.' Scheer had a saying at one time: 'Join Ramparts and become a celebrity.'

"Keating talks with a blunt relish for expletives that rivals Hinckle's. Both are Catholic and, as a mutual observor commented, have in them 'the poisons of piety.'

"Keating, aristocratic, wealthy and Stanford-educated, and Hinckle, caustic, flamboyant, a legend as the Foghorn editor at USF who threw typewriters against the wall, called his thrice-weekly paper the 'city's fourth daily' and ran up $20,000 a year bills, met a year before Ramparts' first issue.

"Enter disagreeing

"Hinckle then was the anchorman for a oneroom public relations outfit called Barth, Hughes and Hinckle, Keating recalls: "'His proposal on how to launch Ramparts was so ludicrous, so embarrassing and so pathetic I had to fire him. He wanted to hold a giant cocktail party in New York attended by a two-bit actress called Rita Gam.'

"Hinckle then reported for the Chronicle where, despite his colorful shirts, suspenders, Edwardian clothes and a roistering Irish image, he was considered a snob with a scornful disdain for civil rights demonstrators.

"When Ramparts began publishing a fivetimes-a-year 'quarterly,' Keating brought Hinckle back as a part-time, $125-a-month promoter. It was a 'gargantuan mistake,' Keating now says.

"Ramparts had 2,551 subscribers in October, 1964, when Hinckle persuaded Keating to publish a monthly and lower the price from $2 to 75¢. Hinckle left the Chronicle on a leave of absence. Keating realized he was going to run out of money by early the next year, but he felt he couldn't, and wouldn't, try to raise it himself (though staffers tell humorous stories of how Keating spent a day with Steve Allen at poolside at Allen's house in Encino, but couldn't bring himself to ask him for money, and how he went to see Playboy's Hugh Hefner...).

"Crack in the door

"But Keating was no money raiser and so, his fatal flaw coinciding with his fatal mistake, he put Hinckle to the task.

"Even Keating admits Hinckle had an amazing knack for raising money: 'an instinct like a weather vane to point where the money is,' as Keating put it.

"Meanwhile, Mitchell, then a graduate student at Cal, had wandered onto the scene like a lost lamb. He liked Ramparts, he wanted to invest money and so Hinckle and adman Howard Gossage 'seduced him up in the firehouse,' as Keating put it. They persuaded Mitchell to put in $100,000, saying it would be used to loosen Keating's control of the magazine. Gossage had been brought into the magazine by Hinckle for promotional help. His spiffy offices on Pacific St. are housed in an old SF firehouse.

"Says Keating: 'We were so close to closing down on Thursday or Friday that, honest to God, if Mitchell's money hadn't come in that weekend we'd have had to close the doors on Monday.

"They threw a deal at me that was the most vicious thing I have ever seen in my life. Hinckle and the people around him smelled blood. I had an option to see that magazine close on Monday morning or give up vast amounts of money....

"'Hinckle pulled a power play. He said, look, Mitchell is not going to put any money into this magazine so long as you're running it. He said Mitchell thinks you're crazy. The only way he will put money into the magazine is if I run it.'

"And out the other

"Keating, defeated, despairing and staggered at the coup's audacity, was forced to accept Hinckle's terms. His name remained on the masthead as publisher, but his power was reduced and Hinckle and Scheer were left in editorial and financial control of the magazine. Mitchell didn't know it then, but his $100,000 was used immediately to pay debts and 'we were broke again,' as Keating put it.

"A few months later in February, 1966, Hinckle was planning to move the magazine's offices from

Menlo Park to lower Broadway in San Francisco-without bothering to consult or notify Keating. Hinckle had arranged the lease, paid the first month's rent and organized the move.
The magazine was broke again and Keating, when he discovered Hinckle's plans, angrily called the bank, stopped payment on the check and threatened to fire Hinckle.

"'There was a big scene,' I was told, 'and Keating caved in to Hinckle and from that moment on Keating was out of the operation and Hinckle was in full control.'

"The magazine grew slicker and brighter, with the help of the immensely talented Stermer, and it rocketed to national fame on its major stories: U.S. Catholic involvement in Vietnam, the Vietnam Lobby, the Michigan State University project, CIA involvement with the National Students Association. They were largely produced by Scheer through his New Left contacts and the research he did in 1964 on a Vietnam pamphlet for the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara.

"The first to speak

"Scheer had been a politically liberal economics student at the University of California, Berkeley, but was known among radical contemporaries as 'the Red-baiter,' the anti-communist. His attitude began changing after a trip to Cuba in 1960 with a student group. His book, 'Cuba an American Tragedy,' criticized the U.S. for mistaken judgments on Cuba.

"Then, shortly after Diem's overthrow, Scheer went to Vietnam on a Center grant. What he saw in Cuba and Vietnam began to form a pattern for him. "'I realized I had been overly influenced by the Cold War and had underestimated the U.S. as an imperialistic power,' he told me. Scheer's Center report was the first major critique of U.S. involvement, formed the basis for many Ramparts esposes and launched him as an articulate New Left spokesman.

"Circulation rocketed past 200,000, but expenses kept pace and Hinckle and his editors had to 'dash about the country,' as he put it in a publisher's note, to keep new capital flowing in. It did come in: from Mitchell (up to $500,000); from SF advertising executive Louis Honig (at least) $100,000); from retired inventor Irving Laucks of the Center in Santa Barbara ($50,000); from the Center's Stanley Sheinbaum and the key source on the MSU story; from Hartford, Conn. businessman Richard Russell and an unpaid Ramparts financial adviser ($369,580 and some regular profits from a New England shopping center in an enormously complicated real estate deal); from Harvard social science instructor Martin Peretz and Singer sewing machine heiress Ann Earnsworth, later married ($574,000); from Abigail Rockefeller Noho ($15,000); from Ross socialite June Oppen Degnan ($50,000); from SF businessman and strong McCarthy supporter Henry Dakin ($10,000); < from a mixture of wealthy liberals and radicals in San Francisco, New York, Atlantic City, Los Angeles, Boston.

"Nothing was madder than the money-raising at Ramparts. Associate publisher James Colaianni raised $20,000 from an electronics executive on an LA golf course. Hinckle chased a millionaire in Mexico City, but he skipped to Europe. Russell put together headswirling deals to nourish the cash flow.

"When Ramparts printed a daily newspaper during last year's newspaper strike ('absolute madness, sereamed Controller Bob Kaldenbach),

SF 157-459 EJ0/cab

Mitchell was forced to pay astronomical bills out of his own pocket. 'Thank God the strike ended before we did,' Mitchell told me. And through it all Hinckle rolled up tidal waves of expenses ('I was the teat Warren was sucking on,' Mitchell later told me.)

"Free to come and go

"In early 1967, Hinckle was ready to move Keating out of the magazine completely. Keating in effect already had 'given away' the magazine because, at Hinckle's urging, he had transferred $174,000 of his own stock to key staff members. The breakdown: Hinckle $100,000; Stermer $25,000; Scheer $15,000; then controller Joseph Ippolito $25,000; Gossage $4,500, and Gossage's associate in a PR firm G. M. Feigan $4,500.

"This stock transfer dropped Keating's equity to a fatal 47 per cent. Hinckle also had stacked the Board of Directors with his men ('The Board of Directors was a seduction scene,' Keating said. 'When Hinckle and Scheer had a pigeon, they put him on the board. We don't want your money, we want your love.')

"(Honig was subtly induced to invest $100,000, Keating said. 'Honig came into Ramparts because of his ego hangup. Hinckle has an instinct for this. He knew how to stroke Honig.

"((Honig had an idea for a novel in which he would set forth his solutions to the Vietnam war. So Hinckle and Scheer brought in an alcoholic, ex-reporter to try to ghost the thing. They spent thousands trying to inflate the ego of Bill Honig.')

"The spiral downward

"Meanwhile, Russell, Peretz and the eastern backers began putting some pressure on Hinckle for financial accounting and budget controls.

CALL

> Hinckle stiffened and announced to Scheer, Stermer and Colaianni that he was embarking on a new fund-raising trip to raise money to get out from under the Eastern block.

"His friends on the magazine told Keating that Hinckle was moving in, but Keating couldn't believe it. 'Maybe I was too close or maybe I wasn't strong,' he said later. 'I couldn't fight on a certain level.' At least twice in earlier days, he called Hinckle in to his office to fire him, but Hinckle left with more authority. In later days, Keating wasn't permitted to see Hinckle's salary after it went up from $15,000 a year (to $25,000) or check mounting expense vouchers.

"With Hinckle out of town, with Keating about to go, with expenses piling up, Colaianni, promotion manager Don Rothenberg and then controller Henry Harchman went to Keating to propose a coup of their own; reinstate Keating as publisher in fact, relieve Hinckle of power. Keating agreed and the four set about convincing Russell, a hard-headed businessman and the key director, to go along with the plan.

"Russell called Hinckle, and appraised him of Keating's move. It's them or me, Hinckle told Russell. Russell flew to San Francisco for the critical showdown with Keating and, during a marathon session at the Jack Tar Hotel, listened to the catalog of complaints—mostly financial and administrative—against Hinckle.

"Not a thing you've said isn't true, Russell concluded. But if we lose Hinckle, we lose Ramparts. Hinckle is Ramparts. We feel we can mature Hinckle. Russell wouldn't budge from this position and he said he spoke for a majority of the directors. Keating the founder, $800,000 investor and holder of 47 per cent of the stock was through.

CALIF

"Keating's attorneys drafted a complaint against Ramparts and, after it was shown to Honig and other principals, through attorneys, a settlement was reached with Keating. The terms: Keating was to get $340,000 in monthly payments over a 10-year period and about $30,000 in a down payment.

"He's gotten about $60,000 so far. Significantly Russell personally guaranteed the money, but only if the magazine survives. Obviously, an incentive for Keating to make no waves.

"'Those guys hated Keating,' Hinckle told me. 'They thought he was an idiot and a bumpkin.'

"Retorts Keating: 'Hinckle betrayed me and betrayed everything I believed in...he wouldn't have doneit alone.'

"At Hinckle's suggestion, Mitchell later abandoned a thesis he had been writing at the University of Kansas...'What became of the Aztec aristocracy after the Conquest of Mexico?' --to join Ramparts as senior editor. Soon, Hinckle confronted him with another financial crisis and he plunked in more money.

"The magazine's financial state worsened (after the foolish strike daily, the magazine later went bi-weekly, increased losses to $34,000 a month) and Hinckle was in New York desperately trying to raise money.

"In January, after the staff had not been paid for weeks, despairing of absentee leadership, Mitchell and the staff demanded that Hinckle return from New York for a board meeting. It was put off, at Hinckle's request, but he finally agreed to be present for a meeting on Jan. 29.

"Hinckle arrived at 11 p.m. and asked the board to accept his resignation because he wanted to make an announcement, but not as company officer. His attorney motioned him outside. Hinckle returned and asked to be reinstated.

"'Oh, what's going on, Warren,' Mitchell asked. 'What's the big mystery. OK, you're reinstated.'

"The announcement: if $400,000 couldn't be raised that evening, Ramparts was out of business, bankrupt. The only merciful thing was to fold the magazine summarily, not allow it to linger as a disgrace to the left.

"For once, Hinckle's move was anticlimactic: He had leaked the story to the New York Times when he was in New York, but the first edition reached the board meeting in San Francisco before Hinckle did:

"Hinckle, the story informed the directors, was going to start a new magazine. Barricades, he had raised $250,000 to do it with, he was going to take the staff with him.

"Yes, the board would accept Hinckle's resignation from the magazine. No, it wouldn't go bankrupt as Hinckle wanted and clear the decks for his new magazine. Hinckle assembled the staff the next day and gave them the pitch, but almost everybody decided to stay with Ramparts.

"Hinckle's old office now is called 'Warren Hinckle's People's Lounge.' Mitchell, now the publishing boss, says he thought about moving into it, but finally decided against it. 'I don't really believe much in the symbols of power,' he said.

"Then Mitchell, the only man Keating says he feels sorry for, added: 'I'd like to have either a central role here or essentially none. I don't want to hang around.'

"The man who didn't have a story until it was worth a page ad in the New York Times would smile at that."

Financial History

The "San Francisco Bay Guardian," a weekly newspaper of general circulation in the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Area in its issue of March 27, 1969, contained an article captioned, "Ramparts-Revolution With Limousine Service" by IVAN SHARPE, which read in its first part as follows:

"Frederick C. Mitchell, 29-year-old publisher of Ramparts, is somberly reflecting on the expenses run up by the magazine's former president and editorial director, Warren Hinckle.

"'Big, big,' he says softly. His handsome, boyish face has the look of a betrayed child.

"He leans back slowly, fingers drumming on his creaking chair, which suddenly sounds loud in his tiny, cluttered office. The window is fiercely bright with sunlight and the murmur.

of cars and tourists from nearby Fisherman's Wharf floats through clearly:

"Then he looks up and a light smile instantly wipes aside the pensive look. 'Are those what I think they are?' he asks eagerly.

"He glances happily at the green slip handed to him by a casually-dressed employee who has walked in. It is a payroll check for $318.55. The publisher is like a small boy who has just been given a raise in his pocket money:

"Mitchell, unassuming, likable university professor who sunk an inheritance from his grandfather of nearly half a million dollars into Ramparts, was getting his first salary check in four months.

"Ramparts has been in desperate financial trouble before. Once in 1965 it came within one day of having to close its doors. Mitchell's first $100,000 saved it then. He may save it again, but not this time with his money. Mitchell had never invested more than $20 before Ramparts, but he plunged his inherited fortune into the magazine.

"Ramparts is in voluntary bankruptcy and the Federal Court has agreed to a financial reorganization that would keep its numerous creditors—from Dr. Spock at $50 to Eldridge Cleaver at $805 to PT&T at $19,000—from immediately trying to collect debts of nearly $2 million.

"The new Ramparts may look no different (except for fewer expensive, full-color pages), its tongue will be, if anything, more biting (the next issue will have an expose of CIA infiltration into black capitalism), its emphasis will be less Hincklish sensational muckracking brandished in New York Times ads, more Robert Scheerish political analysis.

"But inside the magazine's airy, $1400-a-month, bayside suite at 495 Beach St., a barer bones look will prevail. Mitchell has slashed the staff from 25 to 16, ruthlessly halved salaries (Scheer's pay is cut from $15,000 to $10,000) and drastically pared expenses.

"No more sumptuous hotel suites (in debts alone: Chicago's Ambassador, $2,536, for the convention; New York's Regency, $824, St. Regis Sheraton, $1,267, Hilton $121; Washington's Sheraton Carlton, $258, and Shoreham, $532; LA's Statler Hilton, $602). No more limousince service for executives (as Hinckle had in New York). No more big restaurant tabs (debts: Andre's, $144; Vanessi's, $504).

"No more wives traveling first class with husbands (as did the Hinckles and the Scheers). No more big promotion parties in New York (thousands at the Algonquin alone).

"Hinckle in 1968 raised $20,000 or so, I was told, but his expense account for a 30-day period was bigger than that. Said former publisher Ed Keating, 'Check the expense accounts of Scheer and Hinckle for years 1965-1968 and you will see the most diabolic, systematic bloodletting...Bob Scheer and his wife traveling on a deal, something like $2,500 to $5,000 to be paid back at $25 a month on a promissory note. It's ridiculous.'

"Hinckle's lavish parties and soaring expenses (perhaps $250,000 in three years, but nobody seems to know for certain) were regarded suspiciously by many staff members and by readers following Che Guevara in the jungles and black militants in the ghettos."

Petition in Bankruptcy Under Chapter 11 of National Bankruptcy Act

The March 7, 1969, issue of the "San Francisco Chronicle," a daily newspaper of general circulation, contained an article captioned, "Ramparts Bravely Looks Ahead," which read in its entirety as follows:

"Ramparts Magazine is $5,800,000 in debt but will keep publishing, its officers told a bankruptcy court here yesterday.

"It hopes to borrow $115,000 from new investors and anticipates getting $65,000 from its readers in advance renewals, officers said.

"With this money, plus $75,000 from Random House and Bantam Books as advance money, the magazine believes it will have $206,000 at the end of June to start paying off its debts.

"Lynn Gillard, the banktuptcy referee, agreed the company would not have to post a bond. Just the cost of that would cause the magazine to fold, Publisher Frederick C. Mitchell said.

"So it will remain in operation and its creditors are forestalled from taking any court action to collect.

"Debts, the company said in a statement of affairs, are $5,864,920 while its assets are only $44,507.

"Secured debts amount to $4,246,747. The magazine owes the Federal government $51,635 in taxes, the state $1481 in taxes and it owes back wages to employees amounting to $27,562.

"Among the unsecured debts, amounting to $1,537,493, are $499,451 owed to Mitchell, the publisher, and $81,282 owed Edward Keating, founder and publisher when the magazine was launched in September, 1961 as the Layman's Press."

The records of the Clerk of the United States

District Court for the Northern District of California, contained a Statement of Affairs and Schedules submitted by "Ramparts" Magazine, Inc., which had petitioned for a voluntary arrangement in bankruptcy under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Act, which was filed on March 4, 1969. This petition contained the following schedules and statements concerning the financial operations of "Ramparts."

SF 157-459 EJO/cab

RAMPARTS MAGAZINE, INC. Budget Notes

- 1. Advertising Income estimate is based on 16 pages per issue at $800 per page (both figures are closely comparable to recent experience as a bi-weekly). Longer newsstand exposure should permit us to sustain our per-page price.
- 2. Newsstand Sales of 70,000 copies assume a 16% increase over bi-weekly sales due to longer newsstand exposure and promotional efforts. 70,000 sales at 40¢ per copy at 12 issues per year provides $336,000 in annual income
- 3. Subscription Income is estimated on a cash basis as follows:

Full subscriber rate: 12 issues for $8.50 (from 24 issues for $15)
Introductory sub. rates: Insert cards, 8 issues for $3.87
Agency orders, 8 issues for $3.87, 15%
remit (these prices are unchanged)

Sources of Income: New Business
"White Mail" 6000 orders $ 36,000
Insert cards 18,000 orders 72,000
Agency 12,000 orders 9,000

gency 12,000 orders $\frac{9,000}{117,000}$

Renewal business (30-40%) 161,000

Total subscription income $278,000

For profit and loss calculations, subscription income is recorded on an accrual basis. For 1969-70 the computation is as follows:

Average Circulation per issue 60,000
Number of issues per year x 12
Total issues serviced 720,000
Average revenue per issue x 52¢

Income for the year $367,000

- 4. Book Department Eighteen titles per year, $1000 fee per title, plus average advance of $7000 per title, of which $4000 is passed on to authors (expense side of this budget). This is a minimal program which merely continues at a low level the present agenting arrangement.
- 5. Circulation. An average subscriber circulation of 60,000 copies per issue can be maintained, without direct mail promotion, from new orders obtained through insert cards, "white mail", and agency orders. While circulation growth can be obtained by direct mail promotions, large cash outlays are required and our recent experience teaches us not to depend on cash available for such promotions.
- 5. Production economies will be achieved by limited color availability to either 4 or 8 pages of color (course)

This will reduce printing costs by some 40%, color separations by 75%. With the resumption of monthly publication, and a new discipline in adhering to deadlines, printer overtime can be largely eliminated.

- 2. Shipping Newsstand Copies by air freight has doubled our distribution costs. This can be eliminated with monthly publication and respect for deadlines.
- 8. Fulfillment (including subscription promotion) costs cannot be reduced on a per-subscriber basis. The decision to stabilize for now the size of the subscriber list eliminates the need for direct mail subscriber promotions budgeted for approximately $400,000 previously.
- 9. The Sales staff will be compensated on a straight commission basis (10-15%) rather than salary.
- 10. Editorial staff has been cut in half and salaries reduced, netting a saving of $119,000 per year a cut of 50%. This is possible due to new management and the wider range of options afforded by the present crisis. Sinecures have been abolished, part-time staff eliminated, and conversion of some salaried employees to an intermittent employment status paid by the hour.
- 11. Staff reductions and salary cuts will save $53,000. Reduced staff and closer control will yield 40% savings in telephone costs. Most consultants and auditing fees can be eliminated, as can fund raising and interests if this is to be a self-financed corporation.

NOTES TO MONTHLY BUDGET COMPARISON

- 1) Advertising proportional reduction of revenues resulting from monthly instead of bi-weekly publication.
- 2) Newsstands and Bookstores Change in publication frequency and a less optimistic projection of growth in copies consigned.
- 3) Subscriptions Stabilization of subscriber list at present level (no promotion), and change in publication frequency.
- 4) List Rental Estimate in prior budget was overly conservative.

 The present financial crisis has allowed list rental orders to backlog.
- 5) Production expenses Reduction of color availability change in frequency, and staff reduction of 2 persons.
- 6) Newsstand Distribution Elimination of airfreighting and change in frequency.
- 7) Subscription Fulfillment Per subscriber costs remain unchanged, list in new projection does not grow as in prior budget.
- 8) Subscription Promotion No promotion is budgeted because list size can be maintained under monthly publication without this expense.
- 9) Editorial Sharp reductions in editorial staff amounting to a $7,000 decrease in payroll with a similar cut in editorial travel expenses, along with elimination of the Washington, D. C. bureau.

At an assembly of Revolutionary Student Movements sponsored by Columbia University Strike Committee and Columbia University SDS, which was held on September 23, 1968, in New York City, BERNADINE DOHRN, National Educational or Inter-organizational Secretary of SDS, spoke and stated she returned from Europe three days ago. She also stated she and 27 other American student leaders met in Budapest, Hungary with five members of the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam.

The "Washington Post," a daily Washington, D.C. newspaper, issue of September 21, 1968, contains an item captioned, "U.S. War Foes Meet with Hanoi Group," which states that a group of 28 American war foes travelled to

SF 157-459 EJO/cab

Hungary to meet with representatives of North Vietnam and National Liberation Front to discuss strategy on United States campuses.

According to the above article, the meeting reportedly was held in Budapest, September 5 - 9, 1968, by DAVID DELLINGER, Head of National Mobilization Committee and coalition of anti-war advocates. The article stated that nine of the above mentioned 28 individuals took part in demonstrations at the Democratic National Convention.

The Spring Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMCEWV) was an ad hoc organization composed of several anti-Vietnam war and peace groups which organized mass rallies and marches in New York and San Francisco on April 15, 1967, to protest United States involvement in the Vietnam war. The SMCEWV is now known as the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NMCEWV).

According to the above article, VERNONE GRIZZARD, age 24, former national vice president of Students for a Democratic Society was one of the above travel group and had visited Hanoi earlier to bring back three pilots released by North Vietnam. As outlined by GRIZZARD, Budapest meetings centered on Paris peace talks, on prospects of further student unrest and furthering draft unrest among GI's. GRIZZARD said the North Vietnamese gave no directions for activities in the United States, but were pleased and interested in "our" plans.

According to the article, the North Vietnamese were told of plans for a National GI week just before the November 5, 1968, elections, when ministers will be asked to preach anti-war sermons. The article also stated that "they" were also to try to stir up GI's in coffee houses.

"GUARDIAN," FORMERLY KNOWN AS "NATIONAL GUARDIAN"; WEEKLY GUARDIAN ASSOCIATES, INCORPORATED

The "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications," revised and published as of December 1, 1961, prepared and released by the Committee on Un-American Activities, United States House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., contains the following concerning the "National Guardian":

"1. ...'established by the American Labor Party in 1947 as a "progressive" weekly...it has manifested itself from the beginning as a virtual official propaganda arm of Soviet Russia."

The February 3, 1968, issue of the "National Guardian" announced that as of the issue of February 10, 1968, the "National Guardian" would henceforth be known as the "Guardian."

The February 10, 1968, issue of the "Guardian" is self-described as an "independent radical newsweekly" and is published by Weekly Guardian Associates, Incorporated. The "Guardian" lists its address as 197 East Fourth Street, New York City, New York.

The February 12, 1968, issue of the "New York Times" carried an article entitled "Radical Editors Say Their Job Is In 'Movement'." This article stated that the first issue of the "Guardian" was dedicated by the paper's staff "To those heroic Liberation fighters who last week began a major offensive against American Imperialism in South Vietnam."

This article quoted one of the editors as saying that "Our job is to build a radical movement. To quote the Cuban revolutionaries, we are not only to write about it, but also to move along with it—we are movement people acting as journalists.

"The 'Guardian' takes a strong left position, but it is not identified with any organized group because it believes that an American left ideology is still in the making. One of its purposes is to break away from the cliches of the left ideology of the past."

This article concluded by stating that the "Guardian" is considered the largest radical weekly in America.

APPENDIX

The Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications, revised and published December 1, 1961, prepared and released by the Committee on Un-American Activities, United States House of Representatives, contains the following on Page 22 concerning the American Labor Party:

'I. 'For years, the Communists have put forth the greatest efforts to capture the entire American Labor Party throughout New York State. They succeeded in capturing the Manhattan and Brooklyn sections of the American Labor Party but outside of New York City they have been unable to win control'.

(Special Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 1311 on the CIO Political Action Committee, March 29, 1944, p. 78.)

"2. 'Communist dissimulation extends into the field of political parties forming political front organizations such as the  American Labor Party. The Communists are thus enabled to present their candidates for elective office under other than a straight Communist label'. (Internal Security Subcommittee of the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Handbook for Americans, S. Doc. 117, April 23, 1956, p. 91.)"

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. GUS HALL, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anti-communist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of July 24, 1968, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

"RAMPARTS" MAGAZINE, INCORPORATED

The files of the Federal Bankruptcy Court, San Francisco, California, were reviewed on June 5, 1969, and reflected that an order was granted by the referee on May 29, 1969, which confirmed a Plan of Arrangement which had been duly accepted by a majority of creditors in all classes whose claims have been proved or allowed. Creditors will receive from one to five per cent of their claim depending upon the classification or priority of their claims.

LYNN GUILLIARD, Referee in Bankruptcy, advised on June 5, 1969, that contrary to reports in the press, "Ramparts" was not discharged from bankruptcy, but that the court shall retain jurisdiction until the final allowance or disallowance of all claims affected by this arrangement.

I. ORIGIN, SCOPE AND GENERAL ACTIVITIES

A. History and Corporate Structure

Bankruptcy

Ramparts Magazine, Inc. on March 6, 1969, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy which requested a reorganization under the provisions of Chapter XI of the National Bankruptcy Act. It declared debts of $5,864,920 and assets of $44,507. Among the unsecured debts was listed $499,451.17 owed to FREDERICK MITCHELL, publisher.

Suit Against "Ramparts" by FREDERICK MITCHELL, Publisher

The records of the Clerk of the Superior Court of the State of California at San Francisco, in Action Number 610574, reflect that FREDERICK C. MITCHELL was the Plaintiff in a suit filed on November 26, 1969, against Western Media Corporation, Ramparts Magazine, Inc. and others, for an Order to Show Cause and a Temporary Restraining Order forbidding "Ramparts" to transfer any of its capital stock held in the name of Western Media Corporation to any person or entity. This complaint alleged that the only asset of Western Media Corporation is the shares of stock in "Ramparts" magazine.

Proposed Issuance of Additional Stock by "Ramparts"

"Ramparts" made application on September 8, 1969 (approved September 15, 1969) to the Department of Corporations, State of California, to increase the authorized number of shares issued from 200,000 to 500,000 at a proposed price of $1 per share. The stated purpose of issuance of these additional shares was to cancel existing indebtedness and to raise cash. This application stated that a maximum of 10,500 shares would be reserved for the holders of notes payable by "Ramparts", which would be converted into "Ramparts" common stock as authorized by the Plan of Arrangement by the U.S. Bankruptcy Court.

SF 157-459 EJO:mb

This application stated that the principal holders of "Ramparts" stock (holding 10% or more of outstanding stock) were declared as follows:

- 1. Western Media Corporation 42,800 shares (22.54%)
- 2. Media Resources Corporation 42,000 shares (22.17%)
- 3. FREDERICK C. MITCHELL 36,850 shares (19.46%)

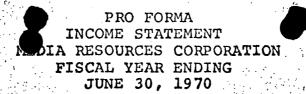

Interlocking Corporations and Relationship to Ramparts, Inc.

Media Resources Corporation

The records of the Department of Corporations, State of California, File Number 500-7154, contained an application dated September 5, 1969 (approved on September 11, 1969) for an offering of 400,000 shares of Media Resources Corporation stock at $1 per share. Attached to this application was the following information:

NOTE:

Ramparts, self-described as an "independent, liberal magazine of dissent," is published at San Francisco, California. In the recent past, it has encountered financial difficulties and San Francisco advised in relet that the activities of this organization have been limited. Further, that San Francisco would review this matter in December, 1970 and give consideration to submitting a report at that time.

a small number of Catholic leaders worked behind the acenes to get the United States originally involved in Viet Nam

However, a Catholic magazine, Ramparts, founded on the West Coast by Edward Kesting, has now published a carefully detailed and very important story of this packstage operation. The account is authored by Robert Scheer and Warren Hinckle, the latter, the executive editor of Rampairs and it traces, step by step the manner in which the United States got involved in a bloddy war which few peopie at the time knew much about but which has now become a major threat to world peace.

The story tells how Ngo Dinh Diem, described as a sort of "Carholic mandarine," came sity then to Maryknoll, the Cacholic seminary outside New York.

on November 17, 1970, a review of the records of the Bankruptcy Court, United States Court House and Federal Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, California, revealed that "Ramparts Hagazine" remains before the Court and creditor's claims have yet to be disposed of.

The April, 1970 issue declared that circulation had topped 128,000, comprising 63,000 newsstand sales and 65,000 paid subscriptions.

"Ramparts" financial condition remains perilous, with liabilities far exceeding assets. Former publisher Frederick J Mitchell continues to hold some $500,000.00 of the magazine's indebtedness paper. The October, 1970 issue contains a letter of resignation by Board member Edgar Lockwood. Lockwood's departure is a considerable low to "Ramparts" because he has been a substantial contributor to the publication (some $200,000.00 in total) and no replacement has was yet, come to the fore.

long enough to few better, say that other people suspect him, but that you personally think they are being paranoid.

Here are some sample questions:

- 1. Suspect's full name, address, phone number and aliases.
- 2. Parents' and stepparents' names (including maiden names), addresses, phone numbers and occupations.
- 3. Names, locations and dates of attendance for the past four schools the suspect attended.
- 4. His last four employers with addresses, dates of employment, kind of work and reason for leaving.
- 5. A description of his last two cars, including physical description, names of legal and registered owners, and license plate numbers.
- 6. Past marriages, divorces or separations with dates and locations of such actions. The same information on the births of children, civil or criminal court actions and any traffic tickets in the past year.
- 7. His past four residences, with exact addresses, dates of residency, and the phone numbers while he lived there.
- 8. All driver's license and draft card information. Look at the cards yourself.
- 9. Names of two of his long-time friends or acquaintances, how long he's known them and how to reach them.
- 10. A complete military history, including units, dates, jobs and superiors.

Don't let the suspect fill out a form. Ask the questions aloud and copy down the answers, along with his reactions. No one will be able to answer all the questions completely and accurately, but few agents can remain cool and resolute throughout the entire interrogation.

There are hundreds of sources of background investigation for checking his responses. The following are some of the most common to all parts of the country. Begin with names, addresses and phone numbers. All information must be verified and contradictions checked on. Check the telephone book—and call information, as changes may have been made since the book was published.

The R. L. Polk Company publishes a directory of houses holds for most metropolitan areas. The cost of Polk's City Directory is prohibitive, but local libraries usually carry a current edition for their areas. The first section of the City Directory is an alphabetized list of heads of households, usually the husband, showing his spouse's name, his job, his employer and his address. The second section is inde by street address. The resident's name and telephone nu ber follow. The third section is indexed by telephone nu ber. While the City Directory is fairly comprehensive, so libraries have current local directories, indexed by street dress, providing residents' names and phone numbers. published by local phone companies and is usually not otherwise available to the general public. Many libraries keep the old editions of the City Directory (which is usually updated every two years), allowing you to verify past addresses and phone numbers.

The Haines Company publishes the Addressakey, a volume similar to the last two sections of the City Directory but usually more geographically comprehensive.

county assessors' offices have complete listings of all real estate owners in the county. They always list property d scription first, then the owner's name and address. Son times they have a separate index, listing property owns each one on the back. "I'm no a pig," he explained pleadingly to each. "You should believe me! I'm not a pig!" No one had said he was, but several people were beginning to wonder. One MDM stalwart decided to pull Randy quietly aside. He presented him with a series of background questions and explained that everyone in MDM underwent such an interview. Randy answered the questions and assured the investigator that he understood their necessity. Though the questions were few and simple, discrepancies immediately appeared in Randy's story. The night before the interview, he had told an MDM woman that he had been divorced in Scarsdale, Nevada, and during the interview he said he had been divorced in Scottsdale, Nebraska. No town named Scarsdale was listed among Nevada towns in a North American atlas. The investigator called the divorce court in Scottsdale, Nebraska, but there was no record of Randy's divorce. A second call did reveal such a record, but a call to the town in which Randy claimed a son had been born proved

As more discrepancies cropped up, the investigator returned for more questions. By the third session Randy was visibly upset and complained that MDM was "just too paranoid." He had claimed that his truck was registered to the estate of his dead father, Vernon L. Curtis, but the Kansas Department of Motor Vehicles said that it was registered to a Vernon L. Munro. He also told the investigator that his mother's name was Jean L. Curtis and that she lived in Platt, Kansas. Telephone information for Platt listed no Jean E. Curtis, but it did list a Jean L. Munro.

On a hunch, the investigator went down the short list of Munros in the Polk City Directory for San Diego. Near the top was listed a Curtis R. Munro; it showed his occupation as a city cop. The clincher came when the investigator called the Bureau of Vital Statistics for Fort Smith, Arkansas, where Randy claimed he was born on August 18, 1943. The lady on the other end could find no certificate for Randall R. Curtis. She paused for a moment, then said, "Are you sure you don't mean Curtis Randall Munro? That's the closest thing I've got."

By now the investigator was sure he did mean Curtis Randall Munro, and MDM confronted Munro with his real identity before a general meeting of movement groups from San Diego. "Bullshit!" said Munro. "I'm no goddamn police officer!" He stomped out and was never seen again, but for the next two nights the MDM commune was circled with police cars.

No one can create a phony past, no matter how many records he plants; even the most transient people leave too wide a trail to cover, and—as MDM learned—there exists a technique of background investigation. For anyone involved in anything more progressive than the American Legion, the FBI has used it. The trick is to turn their technique against them.

HE SIMPLEST WAY TO SINK an undercover agent is to swamp him with questions about his past—the more specific the better. Don't scare the suspect away. Say that everyone in the organization undergoes similar questioning. If the suspect has been around

A review of the December, 1970, issue of captioned publication revealed that Louise Kollenbaum has been removed from the masthead as consulting art director and has been named along with Bettina Conner as a production director. Two new positions, those of hard times editors, were named and filled by Andrew Kopkind and James Ridgeway. Peter Solomon has been dropped from the Board of Directors. No other changes were observed in the masthead.

It is also noted that in an editorial, "Ramparts" announced the opening of a Washington News Bureau headed by James Ridgeway and Andrew Kopkind. The magazine pointed out that over-all operating costs would rise one third as a result of this effort, which hopefully would be covered by an increase in subscriptions ("Ramparts" editors claim to be in the black for the first time in years) and income from the newly established "Radical Press - Ramparts Press".

A review of the February, 1971, issue of captioned publication revealed that Louise Kollenbaum is again consulting art director along with Bettina Conner. The Editorial Board consists of Jan Austin, Peter Collier, Sheila Daar, David Horowitz, and David Kolodney. The International Editor is Eldridge Cleaver. Rhoda Slanger and Peter Stone (New York) are the Associate Editors.

The masthead and table of contents showed articles including "Angela Davis in Prison" by Michael Myerson; Vietnam: How Nixon Plans to Win the War" by Banning Garrett; and Medium Chile: Cinemo Verite Inside the Third World" by Philip razer.

It is to be noted that "Ramparts" is now published by Noah's Ark, Inc., 2054 University Avenue, Berkeley, California.

"RAMPARTS" MAGAZINE

A review of the March, 1971, issue of captioned publication revealed that Bettina Conner has been dropped as a consulting art director and now the art director is Louise Kollenbaum. The Editorial Board showed no changes from the February issue. The only other change was the addition of Frank Browning to the Associate Editors along with Rhoda Slanger and Peter Stone (New York). Prior to this change, Frank Browning had been a contributing editor.

Articles in the March, 1971, issue included "The Cleaning of America: Don't Hold Your Breath" by James Ridgeway; Revolutionary Karma vs Revolutionary Politics" by David Horowitz; and "The Greening of America: Beyond the Valley of the Heads" by Andrew Kopkind.

"RAMPARTS" MAGAZINE

A review of the April, 1971, issue of captioned publication revealed no change in staff.

The April issue of "Ramparts" gave most attention to the People's Peace Treaty. The article mentioned that the People's Peace Treaty is based on the Eight Points for Peace proposed by the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) in Paris, September 7, 1970. The Eight Points of Peace and the People's Peace Treaty represent the PRG's recognition of the need to undercut any excuse President Nixon might use to justify prolonging the war.

A review of the May, 1971, issue of captioned publication revealed that Louise Kollenbaum has been reappointed to art director. Eldridge Cleaver, Black Panther Party expatriate, is presently the International Editor. No other changes were observed in the masthead.

The masthead and table of contents showed articles including "Hard Times Section; Blue Cross; Oil in Vietnam; Women in Congress; Mayday", and "Anti-War Games" by Allen Ginsberg.

A review of the June, 1971, issue of captioned publication revealed that Diane Coleman had been added to the staff as an Editorial Assistant, which included Toni Barrientos, Joan Medlin and Claudia Niles. No other changes were observed in the masthead.

The masthead and table of contents included articles, such as: Hard Times: "Health Economics; Business of War;

Letters:

[DIRECTOR RESIGNS]

TO THE EDITORS: RAMPARTS has not been my favorite magazine for some time. Nevertheless, when it was in desperate financial straits I helped to rescue it and keep it alive. I confess to being unashamedly a liberal. I have always been impressed by the thought of Justice O. W. Holmes, Jr., that "time has upset many fighting faiths" and that our country at its best and deepest level has believed even more than we have believed [in] the very foundations of our own conduct that the ultimate good desired is better reached by free trade in ideas. For that reason, I felt it was important to the maintenance of that competition to have in existence a largecirculation left-oriented magazine which would be open to a variety of unpopular and radical ideas. Striving to catch and hold the public eye, you have opened our minds to the obscenities of power, to the economic self-interest of powerful groups that control the seats of decision-making. At other times, you have blurred issues by inaccuracies and half-truths in order to take advantage of immediate opportunities to make a point.

The cover of your issue on ecology [May 1970] to a large degree vitiated the thoughtfulness of its contents. It encouraged students to believe that burning banks would do as much for ecology as teach-ins. I wonder what evidence you have for such a belief. The burning evidently did convince Mr. Lundborg to testify against the war for two hours because it was bad for business. Other revolutionary effects I have not seen, nor, so far as I can judge, were they intended by the students, who were affluent, alienated, bored, restless, and fed up over a local issue. What the bombings and trashings have done is to raise a further false issue for the radical right, the super-patriots of the working class and their political representatives to exploit.

Now I have at hand your editorial on Tom Hayden's book [July 1970]. In it you state that revolution is no longer utopian but a real political alternative, that the system "cannot be revitalized [but] must be overthrown. As humanely as possible, but by any means necessary"—led by the students.

That statement in my view is irresponsible and can only lead to dangerous escalation of your already inflated rhetoric. I don't know what you mean by it, and I suspect you don't either, but there are innocent young people who will read in it a sanctification for their wild flailing and bitterness. I suspect that any true revolutionary judges the context of the time and the possibilities more shrewdly. Our nation's system has at its disposal enormous reservoirs of brute power and military might. That factor alone differentiates it from Third World situations as far as home-grown revolution is concerned.

It is true that we live in revolutionary times and that profound change is needed; I, for one, as a liberal, do believe that institutional change and new institutions must be initiated. I am not just interested in the same old electoral process, nor do I have any illusions that the electoral process alone will save the country, but I am not about to throw out the electoral process mindlessly for that reason. Congress is moving toward a profound constitutional crisis as it seeks to reassert its prerogatives over the war-making power of the country. It is ridiculous to dismiss this struggle as of no account. I sense that the reassertion of the need to overthrow the government reflects as much the failure of the New Left to solve its own internal politics as it does the profound frustration we all feel because power seems so unresponsive to all the pressure.

As a nation we have a penchant for the apocalyptic. We are a melting-pot in search of some unifying theme. So often we get it by some scapegoat to blame everything on. What the times call for, though, is a coolness that is not without an underlying determination and passion for change, a discipline and a love and openness to all men of good will. I would argue that if profound change is to come, the necessary means will continue to be nonviolent except in self-defense situations. It would seem that you do not. In view of this divergence of fundamental point of view, I am going to ask you to remove me from the Board of Directors. I wish you well but we must for now part company.

Reurlet and LHM dated 9/9/71 captioned as above.

Referenced LHM was classified "Confidential" and "Group I - Excluded from automatic downgrading and declassification." This classification was based on the statement in your letter "...to protect identity of source: of contimuing value." Your attention is directed to "Regulation Relating to the Protection of Defense Information, October, 1962, under Executive Order #10501, as amended." A copy of this Executive Order was furnished your office by SAC Letter 63-3, dated 1/22/63. Part III of this Regulation. Section 305, concerns criteria for use of "Confidential" classification. Section 305 sets forth the following directive: "Except as may be expressly provided by statute, the use of the protective classification Confidential shall be authorized, by appropriate classifying authority, only for defense information or material the unauthorized disclosure of which could be prejudicial to the defense interests of the Nation."

It does not appear from material set forth in referenced LHM that there is any information that relates directly to "defense interest" or could pinpoint the identity of a source of continuing value. It appears that information contained in your LHM was suitably paraphrased to protect the identity of your source. The information in the LHM does not appear to be of the type that would be known only to a select 🎾 📆

You should reevaluate your classification of the referenced LHM is accordance with standards set forth in Executive Order 10501. Within five days of receipt of this Tolson communication you should submit a communication to the Bureau setting forth why the unauthorized disclosure of material Sullivan in referenced LRM would be prejudicial to the defense interest REC 20 of the Nation. In the event you determine that the classification "Confidential" is not warranted in this matter, you should declassify your copies of the referenced LHM and advise the Bureau of your action. Bureau copies will be declassified and it will not be necessary to submit amended pages.

When submitting communications on captioned publication the character IS - New Left should be used in order to facilitate routing of mail at the Bureau.

NOTE:

San Francisco is instructed to reevaluate its classification of referenced LHM, advise the Bureau and change character from IS - C to IS - New Left in order to facilitate routing of mail at the Bureau.

CHRISTMAS - IN - CHILE

16 days: December 11 - December 26, 1971

This is the first Ramparts Tour, sponsored by and conducted by Ramparts Magazine. Travel arrangements are through the Chilean national airlines, LAN-CHILE, which has offices in New York and Los Angeles, and which runs scheduled flights to Santiago from New York via Miami. They fly Boeing 727s.

Local arrangements (tours, interviews, meetings) are arranged by a Ramparts journalist living in Santiago, through her contacts with the Chilean Department of Tourism and with Chilean university students knowledgeable about Chilean politics who will conduct the tour in Chile. Ramparts' representatives will accompany the tour, beginning in Los Angeles. Two tour sections are planned, one originating in New York, the other from Los Angeles. They will rendezvous in Miami and fly to Santiago together. Only Ramparts' readers are invited to join this tour.

The tour has a dual emphasis: first an opportunity to see first hand a nation now engaged in an exciting political/economic experiment. To that end, our Chilean journalist has arranged for visits with government officials (there is hope that President Allende will see us), tours of nationalized industries and mines, worker collectives, as well as meetings with student, worker, journalist and other Chilean groups.

Second, we will sightsee extensively, both the major cities and ocean resorts, and the lake district 600 miles to the south of Santiago. Note on the itinerary attached that at least seven days are spent outside of the capital city. Chile is a South American country virtually unknown to U.S. tourists. Since Allende's election last year, U.S. tourism has been further discouraged by travel agencies, and there should be no excess of fellow-travellers(sic) there.

For the usual tourist information, check in your local library for Fodor's South America, 1971 edition, or ask us and we'll Xerox from our copy and send them to you.

Details

Travel Documents Required: Valid US passport*(non US citizens should contact LAN CHILE Airlines or Chilean consulates for information) and smallpox vaccination certificate issued within past three years. Services Included in Tour Price. Air transportation (including Puerto Montt flight within Chile), all hotels and meals, tours, guides and connecting transportation to and from airports/hotels.

Weather. December is summer in Chile. Santiago has a moderate climate and no rain this time of year, Puerto Montt may have occasional sprinkles. Summer clothing is recommended, including bathing suits for Vina del Mar. Evenings will be cool, bring coat or sweater.

Medicines, etc. Santiago is a large metropolitan city so no special problems exist that don't exist elsewhere. Obviously, if you need special medicines, bring them.

Sports. Chileans are football freaks, but its football soccer. Fishing (fresh water) is excellent in the lake district where we will spend four days. Surfing, skin diving and water skiing, as well as boating, is popular at Vina del Mar and everywhere else. Basketball, tennis, and the sort are available at private clubs and we can arrange it. There is horseracing and gambling casinos.

Shopping. Textile products are highest quality. Also copperware and jewelry and ceramics. Lots of imported European clothes and things also.

Hotel Accommodations. The tour prices include double occupancy. For single occupancy (just you in a room alone) add $21 to the prices quoted below.

Fees, Payment, Cancellations. From New York, the cost is $850, from Los Angeles it's $950, payable by check before November 25, 1971. Make checks payable to the Trustee, Bruce W. Stilson, Attorney at Law, 880 Las Gallinas, San Rafael, California. To allay fears about being stranded down there, the Trustee will disburse funds only to LAN CHILE for air and other accommodations, until the tour is safely back home. We will accept cancellations, without penalty, before November 26, but thereafter, a cancellation charge of $100 will be deducted before your money is returned to you by the Trustee (within ten days after you cancel). Use the form below when you send your check to the Trustee.

Customs and Currency. Each adult can bring back $100 worth of good duty-free. Dollars-to-Chilean escudas convert at 1:28, and exchange is no problem.

* Passports are obtained at your nearest U.S. State Dept. office, require a certified birth certificate, driver's license or other identification, and two photographs, 2 1/2 to 3 inches square. It costs $12 and takes a week to get the passport.

CHILE IN MARCH

15 days: March 17-31

Chile must be the second most interesting country in the world for Americans to visit--right behind China. (We are working on a China trip but aren't getting much response from Peking yet. Don't plan on it, we aren't).

Chile fascinated our Christmas touring group, so much so that we have arranged another tour for March 17-31, 1972. Like the first tour this one will combine an in-depth look at the political situation, with sightseeing and just laying-around. Chile is a remarkably open society. We found no obstacles to our free movement, meeting with students, political activists, unionists and educators, unaccompanied by government translators or guides. We were the first group of Northamericans to visit Chile for a political look-see, and the Chileans were delighted to receive us.

March will be a good time to go. It's the end of summer but still warm enough to swim. Political activity should be intense, as the right opposition is now attempting to impeach a cabinet minister, Allende is moving to call a plebiscite to reform parliament into uni-camerality, and the banks are being nationalized. As you will see from the itinerary (over), we have scheduled an entire week of political tours and meetings, but left enough free time for you to pursue your individual interests.

The optional trip to Puerto Montt ($60) is highly recommended. Chile's lake district 600 miles south of Santiago (we'll fly) is pure, undefiled nature--snow-capped volcanoes, waterfalls, huge lakes, green valleys where no one lives. We will take motor launch tour of the lake, and the walk through the spray of Petrohue's gigantic waterfalls, and visit the villages in the area. We found it an appropriate setting in which to come down from the heady political experiences of the previous week.

This tour will be led by Ramparts' Santiago correspondent. She is bi-lingual, and well informed on Chilean affairs. In addition, another bi-lingual translator will accompany the tour, which is limited to 30 people to ensure that each individual gets treated as such.

If you want to go with us, move fast: reservations close February 15. Send $100 and the reservation form to hold you a space, and send the balance by February 15.

DETAILS

Travel Documents Required: Valid US passport (non US citizens should contact LAN CHILE Airlines or Chilean consulates for information) and smallpox vaccination certificate issued within past three years.

Services Included in Tour Price. Air transportation, U.S. to and from Santiago. all hotels, all breakfasts and dinners and most lunches. The optional side trip to Puerto Montt costs $60 extra. Tours, guides and connecting transportation.

Travel and Political Information. Every paid reservation will receive a packet from Ramparts, giving you a lot of information to chew on in advance of the trip. For travel information, see your local librarian or Fodor's South America, a guidebook.

Services Not Included in Tour Price. Tips to porters and maids, airport taxes, a few lunches and side trips on your own.

Weather. March is the end of summer in Chile. Santiago has a moderate climate Puerto Montt will be cooler. Bring coats Shopping. Textile products are highest quality, copperware jewelry and ceramics are good, revolutionary posters and prints are great. Photographic film is very expensive, so bring plenty.

Hotel Accommodations. The tour prices include double occupancy. For single occupancy (just you in a room alone) add $40 to the prices quoted below.

Fees, Payment, Cancellations. From New York, the cost is $750, from Los Angeles $825, from Miami $700, all payable by check before February 15, 1972 to Carl Malpern, Trustee, Ramparts, 2054 University Ave., Berkeley 94704. To allay fears about being stranded down there, the Trustee will disburse funds only for air and other accomodations, until the tour is safely back home. We will accept cancellations, without penalty before February 15, but thereafter, a cancellation charge of $200 will be deducted before your money is returned to you by the Trustee (within ten days after you cancel). This is necessary because we cannot get refunds from the hotels. Of course we will try to find a replacement if you cancel, and if we succeed, will levy no cancellation fee to you. Use the form below when you send your check to the Trustee.

Customs and Currency. Each adult can bring back $100 worth of goods, duty-free. Dollars-to-Chilean escudos convert at 1:28, and you cannot convert escudos back to dollars, so don't convert many dollars to escudos!

As you will see from the itinerary (over), this isn't exactly an American Express Rotarian junket encamping at the Hilton. Nor is it a chorus of pink-faced denim clad brigadistas with machetes at the ready. Don't bring your sleeping bag.

Ramparts' tours mix politics and pleasure, and so far the result has been satisfying. Generally, the first week is a very heady dose of politics -- meetings, tours, and interviews; followed by a second week of sybaritic pleasures in a country of phenomenal natural beauty. ITT liked it so much they couldn't give it back.

The optional trip to the south is highly recommended -- the Andes and the lakes are something everyone should quickly look at while they are still clear and unpopulated.

This tour will be led by our correspondent in Santiago, who is bi-lingual and well informed on Chilean affairs. The tour is limited to 25 people to ensure that each individual is treated as such, and has an opportunity to pursue his/own interests.

The seasons are reversed in the southern hemisphere, so it will be winter there, the Andes will be heavily blanketed with snow, and for those so inclined, Portillo offers skiing quite near to Santiago. Skiing is not included in the itinerary, but those that wish can cut themselves loose from the group for a day or so.

The prices above include all airfares, hotels, tours, most meals, all tips, and they exclude passport fees, airport taxes and a few meals. Hotels are good, but are not Hilton/Sheraton. We stay where the vacationing Chileans stay.

The only travel documents needed are a valid passport and a smallpox innoculation certificate issued within the past three years. It takes a couple of weeks to get the passport, so don't wait until the last minute. We fly with the national Chilean airlines (LAN Chile Airlines) which use Boeing 727s.

Ramparts reserves the right to cancel any of these tours if less than the minimum 15 people sign us, because we need that many to get the group airfares.

To reserve a space, send $100 deposit, and pay the balance at least thirty days prior to departure date. If you cancel after that 30 day period begins, we may have to levy up a $200 cancellation charges, because the hotels sometimes will not refund.

Some people will want to extend their trip and see more of South America. By traveling on the 22-45 day excursion fare and paying some $170 extra, this can be done.

Tanzania has just celebrated its tenth anniversary of independence from British rule. We go to see firsthand the progress and difficulties of those ten years, and to share with the Tanzanians their national holiday, Saba Saba Day in dar es Salaam. Tanzania offers a unique model for black African developing nations, utilizing as it does a democratic-socialist state and an avoidance of entanglement in big-power international politics. Where Africa in the western mind of the 60's conjures memories of political instability, mercenaries, guerrillas/tribalism, Tanzania defies the stereotype--its own history as an independent nation has been peaceful and progressive, yet in open support of African unity and in opposition to the persistence of colonialism in Africa.

To the north, Kenya offers a contrast, for Kenya has chosen to move along liberal capitalist lines in its own economic development. As in Tanzania, our itinerary will guarantee an opportunity to fully explore with Africans these political questions, opportunities rarely available to individual travelers.

A large part of the 21 days is spent seeing the countryside, beaches, and natural sights which are usually the only attractions bringing westerners to East Africa. Our trip will not slight these aspects, for we frankly seek both political/conomic interests, and an enjoyable vacation. This tour is offered only to the readers of a half-dozen left to liberal magazines. Ramparts is not American Express and its tours reflect the differences. The tour will be led by Carl Halpern, Ramparts' business manager and a former Peace corpsman and management consultant with USAID in Tanzania. He speaks fluent Swahili and is well informed on African affairs.

Most tours to East Africa are limited to two weeks, this one is 21 days because we believe that for our interest-group, two weeks is pitifully inadequate to both gain an understanding of the politics of East Africa, and to also pay proper attention to the magnificent variety of natural scenery and local celebrations around which we have scheduled this unique tour. The troup is limited to 20 persons, first come first served. If you wish to reserve a place, you should send a $100 deposit to Ramparts Tours, 2054 University Avenue, Berkeley, California, 94704. The price ($1,400 from New York) includes all hotels, transportation, tips and most meals, and is all payable 32 days prior to departure. This tour may be cancelled by Ramparts if fewer than 15 reservations are received.

ITINERARY: EAST AFRICA June 23 - July 9, 1972

Fri/Sat June 23-4	Depart New York in evening for arrival in London early Saturday morning. Saturday free, depart London in evening for overnight flight to Nairobi.
Sunday June 25	Arrive Nairobi, Kenya, about noon. Afternoon free for orientation and rest
Monday June 26	Visit Ministry of Economic Development and tour a nationally owned industrial plant. Evening meeting with representative of ruling party (KANU)
Tuesday June 27	Morning briefing in Ministry of Housing, afternoon tour city, evening meeting with opposition party representative.
Wednesday June 28	Visit Parliament (in session) and University College, meet with students and instructors, in evening depart by plane for Moshi in northern Tanzania.
Thursday June 29	Up-country Tanzania must be seen, not only for Mt. Kilimanjaro and the game preserves, but also as an example of economic development's effect on the countryside. Today we visit a new hospital complex, interview local villagers, and tour a coffee factory and farmer's cooperative school.
Friday June 30	Bus to Arusha nearby to tour a nationally owned radio assembly plant, look in on the town council meeting and shop at the local market. In the evening, back in Moshi, we will interview officials of the cooperative.
Saturday July 1	Visit the Lyamungu Coffee Research Station, and meet with villagers.
Sunday July 2	The Game Preserves. Northern Tanzania has the richest natural game in the world. Our extensive tour will include Ngorongoro Crater, Lake Manyara, the Lerai Forests and the Serengeti Plains/Seronera. June is the end of the rainy season, and soon the animals begin migrationweldebeest, zebra, gazelles, hippos, elephants, hyenas, lions. We will stay overnight at lodges out in the country, visit museums, and campsites and return to Arusha late Wednesday, for our flight to dar es Salaam.
Thursday July 6	We will arrive in time to catch the Saba Saba day activities in Tanzania's capital. This celebrates the founding of the ruling political party and features not only national displays, but cultural events, a national fair and exhibit, the number one vestival of the year.
Friday July 13	Singers and dancers from all over the country will perform, and we will also visit the exhibitions before taking to the beaches at Dar. The

Chinese helped construct the "Friendship Textile Mill" which we will tour in addition to meeting with the Tanzanian national women's organization (UWT) the national publishing house and the ministries of development, agriculture and education. A day of skindiving, fishing an swimming is sandwiched in and then we leave for home, arriving again in New York on Saturday, July 14, Bastille Day.

ISRAEL: SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 13, 1972

Developments since the 1967 war have created new politics in the State of Israel:

- . . . The struggle with Arab guerrillas, and the hardening of lines on the question of withdrawal have polarized the debate on how to reach an accomodation with the Arabs.
- . . . Incorporation of several hundred thousand Arabs into the Israeli economy (the occupied lands) have afforded Israel the first indications of what life might be like where both live together free of hostility.
- . . . A political movement of protest against the predominance of Eurepean Jewry in a state where the majority are Oriental Jews. This question is now linked with the issue of Soviet Jews -- in January of this year in Jerusalem Oriental Jews demanded an end to the immigration of Soviet Jews until job and housing discrimination could be ended for the orientals.

It is questions such as these that bring the Ramparts' tour to Israel at this particular moment. As with our tours to Chile and East Africa, the editors have selected a nation of particularly current interest, and designed an itinerary to permit each traveller an up-close look at the political economy, including visits with students, political leaders, labor unionists and journalists, plus tours of the historical riches that are Israel. Ramparts' good contacts assure the visitor an insider's view that no individual tourist could hope to match, and no commercial travel agency would bother to attempt. A good bit of the 21 day itinerary will of course be reserved for sight-seeing, for the purpose of our trip is twofold: mixing politics and pleasure.

The total cost is $1,050 (from New York) for the twenty one days, including all airfares, hotels, meals, tips, and transfers (and excluding airport taxes, passport and visa fees).

To reserve a space (the tour is limited to 20), send $100 deposit to Ramparts Tours, 2054 University Avenue, Berkeley, California 94704. All fees must be paid by 30 days prior to departure, and cancellations after that 30 day deadline will result in cancellation fees of up to $300 depending on our ability to cancel the hotels, or find a replacement for you.

We will fly on commercial airlines, and this price is based on 14-21 day GIT rates. If fewer than the required 15 tickets are sold, Ramparts reserves the right to cancel this tour and return immediately all monies paid.

Single occupancy hotel rooms cost an additional $80.

Russia and London: 21 days

This Ramparts' tour combines two weeks in the great cities and resorts of Russia, with a week in London. Included in the Russian itinerary are a number of events of political interest. Ramparts' editors have arranged this schedule through our good contacts with a view toward not only providing an insider's look into the Soviet Union, but also affording the traveller a pleasurable vacation among people of similar interests. This tour is offered only to the readers of Ramparts and a few other left/liberal journals, and is restricted in size to twenty people.

Moscow is culturally rich and of interest politically. We will devote only five days there however, in order to give proper time for Leningrad, described by some travellers as the greatest city for sightseeing in the entire world. Yalta is included as something of a diversion and a chance to see a Russian resort, Kiev is of interest for its history and Ukrainian folk festivals.

In London, we will visit the institutions just now of particular interests to many Americans: public health, and housing, but will leave most of the time open for independent travel and sightseeing.

The cost of this tour is $760 from New York.* Travel is by Aeroflot aboard Illushin 2 jets. The price includes breakfast and dinner throughout Russia, only breakfast in London. Single room occupancy costs an additional $60. Hotels are a step down from Hilton, but distinctly comfortable and by no means 'modest' or 'budget,' etc.

Passports are needed, but no visas. It takes our State Department about 10 days to process a new passport application, even longer sometimes, so don't wait.

To reserve a space, send $100 deposit to Ramparts, 2054 University Avenue, Berkeley. The full cost is payable by August first. It is not possible to stay over in Europe for longer than the twenty one days planned here, because this price is based on 21 day group airfares. Well, yes it is possible, but it will cost you about $300 more in airfares since you will have to fly 22-45 day excursion and pay for all the connecting little flights yourself (ours are paid for within the group rate).

Note: Our advertisement offered various departure dates this summer. By now Russia is sold out for the summer season, and this September departure is the earliest that we can hope for. Those of you intent upon going to Russia this summer at any cost should contact a travel agent for individual arrangements, but you will probably find there is just no hotel space anywhere.

Ramparts

Scandinavia: 15 days in July East Germany: 6 additional days

$750 from New York, $900 from Westcoast

Departure: Saturday, July 1

This tour is designed to do two things: provide an insider's look at Scandinavian social democracy, and afford a pleasurable vacation among people of like interests. Ramparts Magazine has utilized its good contacts to arrange an itinerary which includes both the expected sightseeing ingredient, plus an unusual variety of politically interesting tours and visits with informed Swedes and Danes. The tour will be conducted by Frank Browning, a former Ramparts' Editor and a frequent visitor to Scandinavia. Limited to 30 people, this tour has been offered only to readers of Ramparts and other left-liberal magazines.

Accommodations are comfortable but not Hiltonish, all rooms have private baths. Continental breakfast and dinners are included, as are all tips, transfers, and guides. Excluded are airport taxes, lunches.

Understanding Scandinavian social democracy requires understanding the politics of the labor movements. This aspect, and the social welfare system will be the focus of this tour, which as you will see from the itinerary (over) includes a good many visits with local people and institutions. None of these activities are required of course, but as our recent tours to Chile showed, most visitors will find the political dimension of the tour vital and will want to take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

The prices are: from New York $750, from San Francisco or Los Angeles $900. Single occupancy room charge is $45. Airfares are GIT, which require us to have 15 people flying both ways together, so Ramparts reserves the right to cancel this tour if we don't get the 15 from each coast that we need.

To reserve a spot, send a $100 deposit to Ramparts Magazine Trustee, 2054 University Avenue, Berkeley, California 94704 now, and send the balance before June 2, 1972. that no one will worry about being stranded, none of the money gets disbursed (except for travel accommodations) until everyone is home again.

Everyone making reservation will receive additional information from Ramparts, including travel/tourist information and political background reading material. Passports but not visas are needed.

A third week in East Germany is available for an additional cost of $200, which includes all meals, hotels, tips. This week will be devoted to seeing East and West Berlin, Leipzip and Dresden via motorcoach, with some visits arranged to factories and meetings with students and unionists. Much of this itinerary is now being arranged and more information can be sent you on request within the next four weeks.

Referenced LHM contains information concerning tours sponsored by captioned publication. These tours include travel to Chile, East Africa, Israel, Russia, London, Scandinavian countries, and East Germany.

A review of the literature in the enclosed LHM concerning these proposed tours indicates that they are designed to appeal to individuals who espouse the ideology of revolutionary organizations. In view of the above, you should immediately conduct investigation in an effort to determine if, in fact, these proposed tours are consummated and determine the identities of individuals participating in this travel. In your investigation of this matter be guided by instructions contained in the Manual of Instructions, Section 87E, pages 25 and 26.

ReBulet 6/2/72 and urlet to the Bureau 6/9/ captioned as above.

The Bureau, in referenced letter, referred to tours sponsored by captioned publication to such countries as Chile, East Africa, Israel, Russia, London, the Scandinavian countries and East Germany. Bureau letter further observed that these proposed tours appeared to be designed to appeal to individuals who espouse the ideology of revolutionary organizations and instructed your office to immediately conduct investigation in an effort to develop pertinent information concerning these tours and the identities of individuals participating in them.

You indicated in your letter that your office has no sources in a position to furnish information concerning these tours and that a review of bank records would not assist in developing the desired information.

You are instructed to conduct logical investigation which might be of assistance in determining the identities of individuals participating in these tours. In this connection, a review of bank records, a canvass of travel agencies in the San Francisco area and contacts with other local Government agencies may produce pertinent information regarding these tours and the identities of individuals participating in them. addition, the development of sources and informants on individuals connected with "Ramparts" would greatly assist in developing the desired information.

Enclosed for the Bureau, New York, and San Francisco offices are one copy each of "Unofficial" passenger lists for 6/17/72 and 8/5/72, respectively, Lan Chile flights from Kennedy International Airport, New York City to Sant Daggo Chile, and other points.

On 2/15/73 Lan Chile Airlines, Traffic Department, 150 S.W. 2nd Avenue, Miami, Florida, furnished what he described as "unofficial" passenger lists for Lan Chile flights from Kennedy International Airport, New York City, on 6/17/72 and 8/5/72. He said that his unofficial passenger lists do not indicate that the flights on these dates include tour flights to Santiago, Chile, sponsored by Ramparts Magazine. However, he continued, there is only one Lan Chile flight daily from Kennedy International Airport. This flight stops at Miami, Florida; Panama; Peru; and Argentina, as well as at Santiago, Chile.

said that the official passenger manifests for the 6/17/72 and 8/5/72 flights are located at the Kennedy International Airport, New York City, Office of Lan Chile, telephone 995-6961, or at the Kennedy International Airport office of Iberia Airlines, telephone 995-6962. He explained that Iberia Airlines handles Lan Chile passenger and cargo services out of Kennedy International Airport, Lan Chile having no terminal or boarding space of its own at that airport. noted that the official passenger manifests presumably would coincide with the unofficial 6/17/72

PREDICATION

"The current investigation is based upon information be that 'Ramparts' magazine issue of 6/73 identified BO BURLINGHAM by as being on the Editorial Board of this magazine, with the additional notation of 'Managing'. Sources, who have furnished reliable information in the past, have advised that Information has been received that leaders of the Weatherman organization may be in violation of Title 18, U.S. Code, Sections 2383 (Rebellion or Insurrection), 2384 (Seditious Conspiracy), and 2385 (Advocating the Overthrow of the Government). The Weatherman organization in its public statements and publications advocates the desirability and necessity of overthrowing the U.S. Government by force or violence. This investigation is being conducted to determine whether those responsible for publiching 'Ramparts' magazine advocate subversion, violence or violations of law within FBI jurisdiction."

The extent that has influence over editorial policies is not known, however, the present contents do not advocate revolution or violence.

Pretext call to the business offices of "Ramparts" on 7/25/73 was made by SA Pretext used was that of a student doing research work.

A review of the July and August/September issues of "Ramparts" shows no articles which have subversive content, which advocate violence, or violations within FBI jurisdiction.

The contents of "Ramparts" do not meet the criteria for investigation. In view of the above, this case is being placed in a closed status, UACB. San Francisco believes that because "Ramparts" is a nationally circulated magazine, any future advocacy of revolution or violence will be readily apparent and this matter could be re-opened.

Individuals mentioned in this report concerning whom characterizations are not included are those on whom insufficient identifying data was available from which a characterization could be constructed, or where identifying data was insufficient to properly identify.

Weatherman, formerly a faction of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), controlled the SDS National Office from June, 1969, until its closing in February, 1970. Weatherman then entered an underground status and adoped a tactic of "strategic sabotage", with police and military installations designated as primary targets.

Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) was founded during June, 1962, at Port Huron, Michigan, and in the 1960s functioned as the leading New Left campus-based student organization in the United States. From an initial posture of "participatory democracy", SDS moved to a radical-revolutionary position, with debate centering on how best to create a revolutionary youth movement. Internal factionalism produced a split during the SDS National Convention in June, 1969, which resulted in the following three factions: Weatherman; Worker Student Alliance (WSA); and Revolutionary Youth Movement The Weatherman and RYM are no longer affiliated with SDS. The WSA continues to use the name SDS and maintains its national headquarters in Chicago, Illinois.

A source advised that the following company is the printer for "Ramparts" books:

R, LL By telephone 7/18/73, SAC Paul Young, Kansas City, advised that Chief Ellingsworth of Kansas City had received a call from Chief of Police Mark Fursteinberg of Boston Fegarding an attempted interview by Andrew Kopkind (described as a radical left-wing journalist for such publications as Ramparts magazine), who reportedly asked Chief Fursteinberg a number of derogatory questions about Director Chief Fursteinberg said only good things about the Director and Kopkind reportedly seemed disappointed as he left, remarking that he was going to Washington, D. C., to interview people there.

ANDREW KOPKIND:

Connecticut. He graduated from Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, in June, 1958, with a Bachelor of Science Degree, and while a student) at Cornell he served as editor of the "Cornell Daily Sun," a daily student newspaper. In 1958, he was a reporter for the "Washington Post Times Herald," and from 1964-1967, was Associate Editor of "The New Republic Magazine," Washington, D. C. In 1970, he was listed as editor of "Hard Times" magazine in Washington, D. C., and resided at 1768 Columbia Road, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Andrew David Kopkind was born 8/24/35, at New Haven,

FBI Identification Division files reveal that on 7/31/64, Andrew Kopkind, born 8/24/35, was arrested by the Los Angeles Police Department on a charge of "647 apc (lewd conduct)." The lewd conduct charge was subsequently dismissed and Kopkind received a 30-day suspended sentence and one year probation on a disorderly conduct charge. (105-34074-53-617)

Kopkind has a history of alliance with New Left and radical activities, including the Venceremos Brigade and Students, for a Democratic Society. On October 11, 1969, he was arrested in Chicago. RAMPARTS MAGAZINE

"Ramparts" magazine is a monthly publication published in San-Francisco, California, which has been described by a member of its staff as a "magazine of criticism and dissent." It was founded in 1962 by Edward M. Keating, a San Francisco attorney, who served as publisher and editor until April, 1967.

This magazine has been extremely critical of U. S. policy be in Vietnam. It has a reputation of being a radical, muckraking hational monthly which describes itself as "the largest left-of-center commercial magazine in the history of the United States."

THOMPSON -Ellingsworth of the Kansas City Police Department. Mr. Ellingsworth had been called by Chief Mark Fursteinberg of the Boston Police Department regarding an attempted interview of Fursteinberg by Andrew Copkind, described as a radical left-wing journalist. One of the publications Sopkind writes for is RAMPARTS Magazine. Sopkind had asked Chief Fursteinberg lots of derogatory questions about Director Kelley and the conversation seemed to center mostly around these questions. Chief Fursteinberg said only good things about Director Kelley and Copkind seemed disappointed and left. Sopkind said on leaving that he was going to Washington, D. C., to interview people here. SAC Young thought the Director should know about this in case he tries to get an interview with him.

The main thrust of the article appears to be that both Federal and state agencies utilize informants to suppress the civil rights of others and this use of informants is often done solely for the purpose of political gain. Such surveillance procedures by Government authorities are as illegal and unconstitutional as those used by the Watergate conspirators. It appears the entire article is just one more case of sniping at the FBI in particular and law enforcement in general as well as an attempt to further embarrass the Administration over the Watergate incident. There are no new charges or allegations made which have not been set forth at some time in the past by disgruntled and self-motivated people who are attempting to spread their individual malignancy into society in general.

Airtel to San Francisco Re: "Ramparts" Magazine 100-445993

In addition, Headquarters noted that in your LHM's submitted in this matter no information has been set forth with respect to the location of printing and publishing facilities for the magazine, its circulation, its connection, if any, with any subversive organizations, if individuals directly associated with the magazine or articles appearing in its monthly issues advocate violence and the general nature of the publication itself. Accordingly, immediately institute a discreet penetrative investigation in order to fully develop this desired information. It is essential that information of this nature is determined in order that a proper judgement can be made concerning the need for a continuing investigation of this publication.

Further, merely listing the name of the article and its author is not sufficiently informative. You should in the future briefly summarize articles which have subversive content, which advocate violence, or violations within FBI jurisdiction. No reference should be made to articles which do not have contents of the type described above. Additionally, your office indices should be reviewed with respect to the authors identified and where subversive information is available, a brief subversive characterization should be set forth with regard to each individual author.

In addition, during the course of your investigation, attempts should be made to discreetly determine if captioned magazine is being sold and moved to Washington, D.C. In this connection, Headquarters notes that in an article appearing in "National Review" issue of 10/27/72. Page 1158, information was set forth to the effect

Upon completion of your investigation, pertinent information developed should be furnished to Headquarters in form suitable for dissemination. Along with this communication, submit your recommendation as to whether a continuing investigation of captioned magazine is warranted. When submitting this requested communication, the following predication should be set forth:

"The current investigation is based upon information that 'Ramparts' magazine issue of 6/73 identified Bo Burlingham as being on the Editorial Board of this magazine, with the additional notation of 'Managing.' Sources, who have furnished reliable information in the nast have advised that

Information has been received that leaders of the Weatherman organization may be in violation of Title 18, U.S. Code, Sections 2383 (Rebellion or Insurrection), 2384 (Seditious Conspiracy), and 2385 (Advocating the Overthrow of the Government). The Weatherman organization in its public statements and publications advocates the desirability and necessity of overthrowing the U.S. Government by force or violence. This investigation is being conducted to determine whether those responsible for publishing "Ramparts' magazine advocate subversion, violence or violations of law within FBI jurisdiction."

Every reasonable effort should be made during the course of your investigation to determine the degree of influence and/or control that or other revolutionaries exert in setting policy for "Ramparts" magazine. Handle promptly as no dissemination of referenced LHM is being made at Headquarters.

Airtel to San Francisco Re: "Ramparts" Magazine 100-445393

NOTE:

"Ramparts" magazine has been described in a San Francisco daily newspaper as being "a radical muck raking national monthly magazine published in Berkeley, California," and "Ramparts" describes itself as the largest left of center commercial magazine in the history of the U.S. In reviewing referenced LHM and also recent LHM's submitted by the San Francisco Office, it is noted that only minimal information is set forth, which information is of little intelligence value. There is every indication that because of its large circulation within the New Left Movement (it is estimated that approximately 150,000 issues are circulated) this magazine plays an important role within the movement. In view of the fact that

Accordingly, San Francisco is being instructed as indicated.
